TO MY STYLE KATZ:

WHAT'S UP? WHAT IT DO? IT'S YOUR BOO, KATMARLEW BRINGING THE LATEST FASHION NEWS TO YOU.

MY GOOD FRIEND, DIAMOND ROLLINS HOSTED THE FIRST EVER, TEEN VOGUE BACK TO SCHOOL EVENT AND WHAT BETTER PLACE TO HAVE IT THAN ON THE HILL!?

THIS MINI MAGAZINE WILL GIVE YOU ALL AN INSIDE SCOOP ON THE BTS EVENT AND A RECAP OF ANYTHING YOU MAY HAVE MISSED.

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW

I think it's awesome that you've partnered with Teen Vogue to host such an amazing event right here on our campus. How'd you make it happen?

"I am subscribed to some of their emails and I saw that they were looking for some college girls to host the back-to-school event and I thought hmmm what are the odds that they would actually see mine but I went for it and they ended up choosing me and I was so happy!"

What are some key takeaways from this event?

"Some key takeaways from this event would be how much fun everyone was having and I really personally love the outfits that everyone chose to wear it really was cool to see everyone's personal style and to see my vision come to life"

Who are you wearing and what inspired your ensemble for this event?

"I am wearing a company called 'she-in' and I really 2 piece sets!! So I thought I wanted something really funky and cool and fashionable! of course stripes will always give you that look but definitely wearing a two-piece set that's fun gave me teen vogue vibes."

Why did you think it was important for us to have this experience?

“I think it was important for everyone to have this experience because you’re able to see what your personal style is and able to interact with new faces learn more about fashion and really to see black girl magic in full effect! I think it’s beautiful and the movement is iconic and I’m really really happy about that the turn out.”

Why did you choose to have the Teen Vogue BTS event on campus?

“I choose to have it on campus because it’s really good exposure for FAMU and also I really felt like it increases the authenticity of you know black magic in general and added more of a unique touch.”
